

On October 2, 2019, the Automotive Photonics Conference will take place at Automotive Campus in Helmond, The Netherlands.

The conference deals with the following main topics:

- Technologies for ADAS (Advanced Driver Assistance System)
- Technologies for the exterior of the car
- Technologies for the interior of the car
- Solar Cells

For more information about the conference and registration, we invite you to visit

<https://www.automotivephotonicsconference.com/>

The Automotive Photonics Conference is part of Photonics Applications Week (PHAPPS Week), which takes place during September 30 – October 4, 2019, Eindhoven, The Netherlands. For more information about the other events that take place during the week, we invite you to visit

<https://phappsweek.com/>